Greetings!

Last night, after the verdict was announced in the Derek Chauvin trial, I asked Diane a question. And because I had a particular answer in mind, I was prepared to give her three responses, assuming that eventually she'd give me the "right" answer. She knew I was looking for something specific but played along anyway. (Have I mentioned to you before, I am married to a very patient woman?)

"What," I asked her, "were your initial feelings when you heard about the verdict?"

Without hesitation she replied, "Relief." Ding, ding, ding! She "got it right" on the first try!

I had been feeling the exact same thing. Not surprisingly, I heard similar sentiments from others throughout the night. And as I found my feelings shared, I realized a question lingered just beneath the surface. "What does it say about our fears and assumptions regarding race and our justice system that "relief" was such a common reaction?"

For me, this relief was born out of the many times before when I have been surprised by verdicts. Admittedly, I am not an expert in these matters, but the video of Mr. Chauvin kneeling for nine-plus minutes on Mr. Floyd's neck seemed quite damning. Yet still, I had little confidence that the trial's outcome would reflect Mr. Chauvin's brutality and guilt. Hence my relief when three guilty verdicts were returned after less than ten hours of deliberations.

If you share this sense of relief, I invite you to consider why... to imagine what lies underneath your reaction. Sometimes our emotions betray our thoughts even when we are unaware of what we might be thinking.

I also invite you to keep in mind, Tuesday's verdict represents one outcome-an outcome that required multiple witnesses and irrefutable videotape evidence. Let us not gloss over the fact that the initial police department report indicated Mr. Floyd had died from a "medical incident during a police interaction." Nor should we forget that Mr. Chauvin was the subject of at least seventeen different complaints or investigations in his nineteen-year career prior to committing this murder. One verdict does not correct generations of practices and attitudes.

Stay Connected

Clearly, there is more conversation to be had (and work to be done) regarding the systemic racism that infects police practices. No doubt, Tuesday's findings signal a certain, and some would say groundbreaking, amount of accountability. But whether it foreshadows increased social justice in this country remains to be seen.

But to be clear, as followers of Jesus, it is our calling to do more than take a wait and see approach regarding this justice. We are to advocate for it with our words. We are to promote it by our actions.

On several different occasions, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King preached, "The arc of the moral universe is long, but it bends towards justice." It bent just a bit more that way Tuesday. For the sake of George Floyd, for the sake of all persons of color in this nation, for the sake of our sons and daughters, and for the sake of the risen Lord, let us continue to put our might into this arc, that it might bend even more in the years to come.

Peace,
Jim

Adult Faith Formation

Adult Faith Formation

The Adult Faith Formation Group is reading Love Is the Way, by our presiding bishop, the Most Rev. Michael Curry. About this book the Archbishop of Canterbury writes, "Drawing on his own life and experiences, (Curry) shows us that time and time again, when love is threatened by circumstances-- be it poverty, racism, violence, injustice, or the abuse of power-- that same love has the power to shine through."

Come and celebrate the Easter season with us by reflecting upon the power of this love to change our lives.

As in recent months, the class will meet over Zoom on Wednesdays from 7:00-8:30PM. Please read Chapter 9 in preparation for our first meeting. And, as always, expense should be no obstacle to participation. If you need assistance in acquiring the book, let Tim or Tanya know.

We look forward to sharing the discussions with you!

Gift From Episcopal Charities

St. Luke's Receives a Gift from Episcopal Charities Now Fund!

Many of you have participated in the Episcopal Charities campaigns in years past. Historically, St. Luke's has been one of the largest contributors to this diocesan effort, which raises funds from diocesan contributions to support a host of state-wide, non-profit programs.

In response to the pandemic, Episcopal Charities began the "Charities Now" Fund to distribute aide quickly to church-based feeding ministries. At the end of March, St. Luke's was the beneficiary of this outreach, receiving a $1,000 donation to support the resumption of our feeding ministries.

Let us give thanks for the generosity of our fellow Episcopalians and this diocese. Let us keep our various feeding ministries in our prayers. And let us always be mindful of those near and far, hungry for both food and love.

Kid's Compline

Kid's Compline Service via Zoom

We are offering a family friendly prayer service on Thursdays at 7 pm in the spirit of compline, crafted especially with children in mind. Compline is a night prayer that marks the closing of the day. It's great to have the chance to pray and think about scripture together, and we'd love to have you join us!

Corporate Communion

Corporate Communion Program

The Corporate Communion program at St. Luke's is about to begin.

Children understand the symbolism and significance of the Eucharist in ways that are often surprising and delightful. It is no wonder that Jesus said, "Let the little children come to me!"

Since the 1991 Prayerbook, our church has lived into the theology that Baptism is full initiation into the Body of Christ, moving away from the idea that Confirmation and "understanding" are the bench marks for participation in the Eucharist.

Corporate Communion is a remarkable communion instruction, not preparation class. It is designed to offer age appropriate theology, liturgy and tradition to children.

Children are not the future of the church, they are the church today. This class honors their full membership in the Body of Christ, and equips us grownups for the vows we made at their Baptism that we would support them in their life in Christ.

Corporate Communion classes at St. Luke's will begin at 9am and will meet on the following dates:

- 5/2 Meet and Greet/Sharing a Meal
- 5/9 Story Telling/These Holy Things
- 5/16 Church Tour with Father Tim
- 5/23 These Holy Things/Praying Together/Angel
- 6/5 Rehearsal 12:00-1:00 and Ice Cream Social at St. Luke's
- 6/6 Corporate Communion Celebration at the 10:15 service

We will meet downstairs in the dining room and will practice social distancing.

Please contact me at theresa@stlukeseg.org for a registration form or call me at 415-233-0761 if you have any questions or concerns.

Pentecost Is Coming

Pentecost is Coming!

Pentecost Sunday tells the story of the disciples who came together, who received the Holy Spirit as fire and who told the story of Jesus and God's love. We read that the Holy Spirit descended as a dove and has, by tradition, become not only a symbol of the Holy Spirit but of peace. We, too, will come together on Pentecost Sunday, both virtually and in person. We will hear the story and, in the chaos we feel in our present world, we will look for peace.

Building on our tradition, we would like to create a pathway of peace for those who enter for Pentecost services, but we need some help. Available in the office are kits to make Origami Doves. If we all make a few, we should reach our goal of 100 to fly over our hearts for Pentecost Sunday!

If you are able to help, please pick up a kit, make the doves (they are easy), and return the doves to church by May 20. If you need more visual instructions, you can go to <http://www.tavinsorigami.com/origami->. This is a video step by step direction for the traditional Origami Dove.

If you have any questions, please feel free to email me, Cindi Lovejoy, at benem@cox.net.

Women of Grace

Women of Grace - Listening Hearts Discussion on May 10th

Our next meeting will be Monday, May 10 at 7pm - please mark your calendars! The Rev. Pam Gregory will lead us in a discussion of the Listening Hearts program for lay discernment. Based on the book Listening Hearts: Discerning Call in Community by Suzanne Farnham, the program provides "simple reflections and exercises drawn from scripture and from Quaker and Ignatian traditions, to help make the spiritual practice of discernment accessible to everyone, not just clergy". New or used copies of the book can be purchased online or in bookstores. For our May 10 discussion, you only need to read through page 67.

Women of Grace meets once a month via Zoom. Each gathering opens with prayer and a period of fellowship, followed by the evening's discussion, and ends with a prayer or reflection. We start at 7pm and promise to say our final AMEN by 9pm!

If you are not currently on our mailing list or if you need help finding the book, please email Deborah Collins (collinstn01@gmail.com).

Handmade Crosses

Handmade Crosses

Hi, my name is David Clifton. I have grown up here at St. Luke's. From being in the choir, to being part of the youth group, to going to ECC for many years, and to be able serve as an Acolyte on the alter. And through it all was my family (mom, dad, and 2 sisters) and my St. Luke's family (too many of you to list by name). When my dad passed away in 2018, I came to ask GOD and my St. Luke's family for support. That is when Fr. Tim, Fr. Dante, and our Deacon Christine became part of my family. And it was and still is being very supportive.

I took dad passing very hard, so to help myself get through that time, I had to put my creative mind to work. I had to find something that I could do. So I went to the internet, and starting looking at things that I could make. One thing caught my eye, it was a cross. Not an ordinary cross, but a cross that was made out of something that I had seen all the time growing up. The cross was made out of horseshoe nails. Yes, I said horseshoe nails, the nails that are used to put shoes on horses. The cross was called a "Disciple's Cross", it looked nice but I knew that with a little bit of extra work, I could make it something that dad would like. So, I got some supplies and I made two prototypes. I took them to church and showed them to the Deacon (who loved them) and who (at the time) 'BLESSED' them. I gave one to mom and I took the other one. At that time, I asked the clergy if they wanted one and what color(s) they wanted it to be. Now that is when things started to take off, the Deacon said that having the acolytes make their own cross would be another way to teach them about 'HOLY WEEK'. So a workshop was setup one Sunday after church and all of the acolytes each made their own cross. On Palm Sunday of 2019, Fr. Tim 'BLESSED' the acolytes' crosses and the crosses were then passed out to the acolytes. And it was a very nice site, to see something that I had helped the acolytes make, in the memory of dad, being wore around the necks of the acolytes on Easter Sunday 2019.

Every now and then, I end up making one for a friend of the family, or for a birthday present for a member of the church. Well, now I am writing this to ask any member of my church family, if they would like me to make them a cross. I have included a photo of a finished cross along with a QR code that you can scan to send me an email. Now Mother Tanya and the other Fr. Tim, have become part of our family and I have already made, had 'BLESSED', and delivered their crosses.

God be with you,
David

St. Luke's Feeding Ministries

St. Luke's Feeding Ministries Update!

Like most other things, Covid restrictions have had an impact on the usual rhythm on Christ Community Kitchen (CCK), Lunch on The Hill (LOTH) and Loaves and Fishes (LFRI). Throughout the year the leadership of the feeding ministries have been collaborating in finding new ways to help our community and those in need. March was a very active month.

St. Luke's parishioners also provided support to the Sayles Street Shelter. A site that we have had a long relationship with through our LFRI runs. The shelter offers transitional housing along with a wide range of services and life skills training such as parenting support, employment training, GED, mental health and substance abuse counseling. Saint Luke's delivery of diapers, pull-ups, brushes, men's socks and deodorant, baby lotion, shampoo and kids' hair ties was deeply appreciated by those in the Shelter.

Our Feeding Ministries collaborated to provide sorely needed toiletries to the Community Care Alliance Program in Woonsocket. This non-profit program recently opened a drop-in center called Safe Haven. The center is located around the corner from the bus stop, a cornerstone of our monthly LFRI run for years. When they reached out through LFRI, we provided cases of toothpaste, toothbrushes, mouthwash, shampoo, soap, deodorant, feminine hygiene, hand towels, sanitizer, and wipes. Those who delivered the donations were inspired to see the wonderful work being done by Safe Haven and happy to reconnect with some of our LFRI friends.

Moving forward we are exploring how to build on these efforts with a vision of establishing ways of continuing our support on a regular basis. Keep an eye out for ways that you can be a part of these outreach efforts. As details are available, we plan on reaching out through SignUpGenius for your help.

If you would like additional information, feel free to reach out to the Feeding Ministries through the office.

St. Luke's Choirs

St. Luke's Choirs Sing for You!

As a special gift from the Canterbury, St. Cecilia, and Angel Choirs to our St. Luke's family and friends, choir members compiled a special 'arrangement' of "How Can I Keep From Singing". The music is from an American folk song originally composed by Baptist minister Robert Wadworth Lowry in 1868 with the four-part arrangement published by Jeffrey Honoré in 1991. The choirs performed this piece at their 2019 Spring Concert and happily recreated that performance in this video (also available on St. Luke's website and Facebook page).
