Greetings!

For me, one of the most difficult classes in seminary was Systematics. The class invites you to engage with the philosophical underpinning of our faith tradition, to read the spiritual giants in our history, and to think about how we understand God and how God moves in our world. I had two very different but incredibly gifted professors for the two semesters of the class. One is a towering intellectual giant herself; but as brilliant as she is, she is equally kind and gentle. Her lectures were always fascinating and she has encyclopedic knowledge of many different topics, allowing her to make connections where none seemed to exist. She has also the unique gift of making others sound smart. I would sometimes spew a half-baked idea in class, and she would say something like: "Ah, yes. It sounds like you would have an affinity for (insert philosopher's name here) who shares your concern about (insert interesting idea I never could have come up with myself here)." We all called her Saint Kate.

My other Systematics professor is the dean of the seminary. His approach was quite different. He would take a very big topic and then offer four different ways of thinking about it. The range spanned from classical/orthodox to way-out-of-the-box Christianity. We were invited to reflect on which of the four resonated most with us, and then we'd have a vote where we had to put our stick in the ground and name our preference. The voting part was always a little hard for most of us - we wanted to keep our options open! - but for Dean Markham, it was important that we could articulate what we believed and why we believed it.

Our final paper with Dean Markham was an essay titled Explaining the Faith. We had to revisit the topics we had covered in class in a way that was internally cohesive: evidence for faith, the place of revelation, attributes of God, the doctrine of the Trinity, the nature of the Incarnation, religious diversity, and the doctrine of Providence. It was incredibly intimidating - I felt way out of my league! The intensity of the work made us feel like we better be able to defend our papers until our dying breath. But in our last class, Dean Markham produced a visual map of his own thinking on these topics from ten years ago. Then he produced a visual map of his own thinking on these topics from that year. The maps had changed! We were all shocked! Those maps emphasized an important point: if we are faithfully praying, reading, and learning, the way we think should change over time. As our reading from James said last week, wisdom is open to reason. We should be willing to change our minds when presented with compelling evidence. We cannot grow if we are unwilling to learn.

I've been thinking about this a lot in our Wednesday night Adult Faith Formation class. We're reading Richard Rohr's The Universal Christ. It's a challenging read, and I find myself arguing with him at times, or struggling with ideas I don't quite understand, or cheering when I'm grateful for a point he's made. Often all of this happens over the course of a single page! It's such a gift to get to engage in this struggle, to read a book with a wonderful group where we share our insights and wonderings, name the things we don't agree with, name the things we find life-changing, and grow together. I will not come out of this class the same person who went into it. Rohr names that Christ has been present since before creation and is still present in creation now. I give thanks to God that I get to experience Christ with each of you.

Blessings in this new season,
Mtr Tanya

Kitchen and Dining Room Update

Dear St. Luke's Family,

The kitchen, dining room and elevator renovations are moving along steadily. We have gotten rough-in sign-off from the plumbing and electrical inspectors, and drywall enclosure is now proceeding. In the kitchen, FRP (fiber reinforced plastic) panels are being installed. These wall panels are easily cleanable and meet health code standards.

The kitchen hood has been installed and openings have been cut in walls to allow the large exhaust and make-up air ducts to be connected. No more flimsy fan and floppy louver through a hole in the wall!

The kitchen cabinets are being built by New England Lab in their Woburn, MA, workshop. These are "lab grade" cabinets, which look like regular kitchen cabinets but are of a sturdier, commercial grade construction that will withstand heavy use. They are scheduled to arrive on site October 4th.

The first cabinets to be installed will be the base cabinets inside the kitchen. They will be in an "L-shaped" configuration similar to where the old cabinets were. Once these base cabinets are installed, a whole bunch of work can proceed in short order. First the kitchen flooring will go in -- a slip resistant "safety flooring" especially designed for commercial kitchens. It is a sheet product with heat-welded seams that does not allow dirt and bacteria to collect like normal vinyl floor tile flooring does. And importantly, the flooring curves up the wall and base of the kitchen cabinets in a continuous rounded form. This is called a "sanitary cove base". The rounded shape allows mops to more easily get into these corners and leaves no joint for dirt and bacteria to collect.

Once the kitchen flooring is installed, the equipment, appliances and stainless steel work tables can be hooked up to plumbing and electrical connections that are already in place. This equipment is fabricated and standing by. So, as you can see, the arrival of the kitchen cabinets is the critical path element that will unlock the final work to be done in the kitchen.

In the meantime, the suspended acoustic ceiling system, recessed down lights, bench wood cladding, dining room cabinetry, and new doors will all be installed in the month of October. The elevator lift installation is complete and awaiting final inspection. I still can't give you an exact full completion date, but we anticipate to be mostly done by the first week of November. October is truly the final big push.

As we look forward to completion, we will be restocking the kitchen with some key cookware, utensils and other items that were just too worn out to make the cut as we packed up the old kitchen. In addition to our core Kitchen Improvements Committee team, Sue Clement will be joining us to put on a “kitchen shower” for those who may wish to help with the purchase of these items. For those of you who are newer to St. Luke’s, Sue and her late husband Ron were the driving force in establishing and running the CCK feeding ministry at St. Luke’s for many years. A memorial fund and last year’s golf tournament fundraiser were both created in Ron’s name, and we are so grateful to have Sue’s involvement in this new chapter of our kitchen. Thank you, Sue!

We WILL have an opening celebration. And it WILL be a wonderful family celebration for our church and supporters. So please stay tuned for when that will be as we begin this final push to completion. And as always, thank you for being a partner in turning our shared vision of a new and vibrant kitchen and dining room into reality.

Peace,
Gary Schweizer

Adult Faith Formation

Adult Faith Formation

Adult Faith Formation has resumed on Wednesdays at 7pm via Zoom.

Our book for this season is The Universal Christ: How a Forgotten Reality can Change Everything we See, Hope for, and Believe by Richard Rohr. Rohr reminds us that we believe that "one God created all things", and he invites us to "reopen [the] ancient door of faith with a key, and that key is the proper understanding of a word that many of us use often...That word is Christ." Please join us as we explore our faith in Christ more deeply. You can see Richard Rohr speak about his book at the video posted by the Center for Action and Contemplation.

Please read Chapter 3 in preparation for our next class.

Corporate Communion

Children understand the symbolism and significance of the Eucharist in ways that are often surprising and delightful. It is no wonder that Jesus said, "Let the little children come to me!" Since the 1979 Prayerbook, our church has lived into the theology that Baptism is full initiation into the Body of Christ, moving away from the idea that Confirmation and “understanding” are the benchmarks for participation in the Eucharist. The book we use is an instruction not preparation book. It offers age-appropriate theology, liturgy, and tradition to children.

The Corporate Communion program at St. Luke’s is offered each Spring. It is generally for children in the 3 or 4 grade. It is a 6 week class that takes place on Sunday’s, from 9:30-10:10. CC culminates with a celebration on the last Sunday at the 10:15 service. The instructor, Erica Simo has taught the program for many years. She is kind, insightful and faithful. The children are given an instruction book called This Bread and This Cup, a personal journal and a beautiful gift is presented to them on the last Sunday of the program.

Our children are not the future of the church, they are the church of today. If you are interested in signing up for this program for the Spring of 2022, please feel free to reach out to me. I would be happy to answer any questions you may have and add your child’s name to the class list.

Blessings,
Theresa Deiters Muscat

Women of Grace – Ready for Fall!

The WoG planning group has come up with an amazing set of topics to start off our new year of gatherings! Meetings will take place in person on the first Monday of each month. Each meeting runs from 7pm to 9pm including some social time, a topical discussion, and spiritual reflection or prayer. Topics for this fall include:

October 4 - Poetry Revisited: Jen Cormier will share a composite of our offerings from last December for a Women of Grace poem. We will not only enjoy the creation that Jen has produced, but will reflect on what has happened in our lives and through WoG in the past year.

November 1 - Prayer Practices: Mother Tanya will guide us in an Examen, a practice developed more than 400 years ago by St. Ignatius Loyola to encourage prayer-filled mindfulness. Mtr. Tanya will also share a variety of different, creative, reflective prayer practices and resources that we might incorporate into our own or our families lives.

December 6 - Housing and Our Neighbors: Susan Aitcheson, head of the East Greenwich Affordable Housing Commission, will discuss new affordable housing opportunities in the East Greenwich area. How might churches come together to welcome and support our new neighbors? Perhaps an ecumenical effort can be produced through our discussion.

After the new year, we have at least three additional topics in the works:

- Iona - The Early Christian Story - an evening of Celtic worship and exploration
- Being Easter People - discussion of Anne Lamott's Dusk, Dawn, Light
- Book Exchange! - bring books to share with each other and the community

While we currently plan to meet in-person over the next several months, we will resort to Zoom sessions and/or hybrid in-person Zoom attendance in accordance with ongoing safety/health concerns and the nature of a given topic or presentation. Details for each meeting will be sent to the WoG email list a week to 10 days prior to each meeting. If you are interested in participating in Women of Grace, please send your email information to Deborah Collins at collinstn01@gmail.com. See you soon!

Coffee Hour

Coffee Hour Volunteers

People don't come to coffee hour just for a cup of joe; they want a human connection, something we all have missed during the pandemic! Here's a place where we build community one cup at a time.

We need your help! Father Tim would like to resume Coffee Hour. For now, we are only offering coffee and juice- no food.

As usual, our sexton, Tim, will set up the coffee urn in the morning. The Coffee Hour host simply needs to set up the coffee "station" with cups, sugars, creamer and napkins. These supplies (except the creamer) are all kept in the armoire in the Blackburn Room. There will be a table set up in the narthex near the stairs where you can set up a juice "station" with small juice cups and napkins. Tablecloths can be found in the armoire also.

So, the host would bring half and half as well as some type of juice. Everything else is provided. After the 10:15am service's coffee hour, the urns would need to be cleaned out and stored in the Blackburn Room and you would need to ensure that coffee grounds go in the trash.

Please consider signing up for an upcoming Sunday so we can properly extend our hospitality and reconnect. Christina put the sign-up sheet on the wall across from the office. You can sign up at church or call Christina in the office at 401-884-4116 and she'll add you to the list.

We look forward to seeing you all soon,

Loaves and Fishes

Loaves and Fishes

We'd like to thank everyone who donated supplies and food to this month's Loaves and Fishes run to the Family Shelter in Woonsocket. The meals, backpacks with school supplies, underwear, and other supplies were very much appreciated by the shelter. It felt great to help the people there who are in such desperate need. Keep your eye out for plans for our next run on September 25th. The shelter staff identified a need in the future for bath towels, facecloths, and used DVD players. We couldn't continue this mission without your support."

St. Luke's Choirs

St. Luke's Choirs Sing for You!

As a special gift from the Canterbury, St. Cecilia, and Angel Choirs to our St. Luke's family and friends, choir members compiled a special 'arrangement' of "How Can I Keep From Singing". The music is from an American folk song originally composed by Baptist minister Robert Wadworth Lowry in 1868 with the four-part arrangement published by Jeffrey Honoré in 1991. The choirs performed this piece at their 2019 Spring Concert and happily recreated that performance in this video (also available on St. Luke's website and Facebook page).
